Certificate Course in Peer Counselling – 2023-24

Joint venture of IQAC & Department of Psychology

This is a thirty hour certificate course aimed to build some students for supporting their peer group. The course is offered by Dept of Psychology in association with IQAC.

Peer counselling is a helping process that involves one-on-one interaction between members of a group, who have several things in common. In an academic setting, it usually refers to students helping their fellow students. It is a way of relating, responding and helping people, aimed at exploring thoughts, feelings, issues and concerns, with the hope of reaching a clear understanding and make informed decisions.

As an adolescent or a young adult, it is easier to talk about your issues with someone who is of your age or has a mindset similar to yours, rather than an adult. This makes peer counselling very effective, as it helps the adolescent comfortable to take that first step in addressing their problem.

How does peer counselling help students?

As students, they may have several stressors in their lives. These may include academic stress, pressure to choose your careers, peer pressure, relationship problems, body image issues, substance abuse and addiction. It may not be possible for everyone to approach a professional counsellor with ease, due to various reasons including unavailability, and the stigma associated with asking for help.

Course duration

30 Hours (which include theoretical and practical input. After completing the course participants have to lead at least one skill development workshop for their peer group or for the students of other educational institutions

Course Outline

This course provides basic understanding about Peer Counselling and Mentoring

Course Outcome

Peer counsellors are trained in communication, listening skills, assertiveness, ethics of peer counselling, issues of confidentiality, boundaries regarding helping others, and basic counselling skills. A peer counsellor is also trained on when to refer the person to a professional counsellor or psychologist. Though they receive training, they are not certified counsellors. For campuses with a counsellor, a peer counsellor becomes a bridge between the counsellor and student. In the absence of a school/college counsellor, peer counsellors help their fellow students understand their emotional and behavioural disturbances and work on solutions. In some cases, they also refer them to a professional counsellor in their area. Peer counsellors also conduct awareness campaigns in their respective schools/colleges on mental health issues, address stigma and discrimination, myths about mental illnesses and so on.

Learning & Assessment Mode

Theory in online and offline mode and also practical sessions about counselling and mentoring among college studets, school studets and orphaages.

Course Resources and Activities

Video Tutorials, Quiz, Assignments, PPT, Study material in PDF format, Group Discussion, Role play, mock counselling sessions, theme based skill development workshops
